

Pierce Transit

Tacoma, Washington

MOA Base (original in 1979 – 1981)

Merritt, with his former associates, worked with Pierce Transit personnel to look at the space revisions and expansion needs for the more recent operating base originally completed in the mid - 1930's. The programming work with space reallocations/expansions resulted in remodeling work to the Admin/Operations building that was handled by the firm structure at the time in the late 1990's.

MOA Base Upgrades to Admin/Operations Building

Merritt worked with Pierce Transit staff as the newly formed authority who took over operations from Tacoma transit. We assisted in defining the space needs and program (many times identifying future positions), developed the space relationship diagrams, designed the expanded facility, bid and managed construction administration.

The expansion was completed while operations continued on the site for the transit system that included significant work around issues during construction.
