

Portland Avenue Community Center

Tacoma, Washington

This is a new community center that was set in an existing park space. It is a two-phase project, with the second phase including a gymnasium/fitness area. The first phase included the dividable meeting/event room, a reception area, a sunken seating/gathering area, classrooms, art rooms, support facilities/staff offices, and site development that has been integrated into the park setting.