

Morton Train Depot

Morton, Washington

Merritt and Ryan led the visioning and master planning for the relocation of the Historic Morton Train Depot to “Ancaon”, the east end of the historic downtown. Local citizens and elected officials met with Merritt to define the goals and objectives for the relocated historic depot to downtown. A number of site alternatives were studied. With the site selection process completed, Merritt and Ryan completed the drawing details for the depot relocation and restoration. The depot moved in the fall of 2005. Currently, Merritt is working closely with the City to restore the outside of the depot.

Working with the City Officials and the Local Community Merritt was able to define the goals and objectives for the Depot
